Sharp Break in Wheat Caused by Report from the Argentine.

There was a fair trade in that cereal... Early business was at good figures, but this was before the increase in the export surplus.

CHICAGO, April 25.—The tremendous increase in the estimates of the export surplus of the Argentine wheat crop caused a sharp break in wheat.

In wheat trade was fair, trade, chiefly local, the market again being a trifle speculative, ruling dull and active at times within comparatively narrow limits. There was further inquiry for May contracts and the spread between that delivery and July was 1/2c, most of the day. A variety of causes contributed to the improvement which marked the opening. The export surplus was stronger than yesterday, considering our weakness yesterday, and more rain was reported in the northwest, and especially in the Red river valley, increasing the confidence of the market.

Trading in corn was fairly good, and prices during the greater part of the session were steady. The first receipts of wheat were reported to be 100,000 bushels, less than a year ago. Under these conditions prices advanced to 50c, and closed at 49 1/2c.

Provisions showed some spasmodic strength at the opening and during the latter part of the session. The market for hogs was steady, and prices advanced to 10c, and closed at 9 1/2c. The market for beef was also steady, and prices advanced to 10c, and closed at 9 1/2c.
